

Automatic Communication

<Concept>

Establishment of automatic communication between ships and shore-based organizations (Illustration is one from shore-based organizations viewpoint.)

- Navigational warning
- Notice to Mariners
- Information on marine incidents
- Traffic information
- Port information

<Roles>

Shore-based organizations process and customize information for intended uses, and provide information with them.

<Benefits>

A wide range of information can be integrated on shore-based database, processed and customized according to specific needs, and provided to users.

